Executive Security
Leadership On Demand

Organizations increasingly need an executive function that requires business acumen as well as security, technology and process expertise. The perfect fit can be the key to successfully executing strategic security programs that add value to your organization. Finding the right fit can be difficult. Optiv can help organizations in defining and driving security objectives from the project to program level.

As a trusted advisor to organizations of all sizes, Optiv helps align security programs with business priorities, such as regulatory and contractual requirements. Our experienced professionals offer the guidance and heavy lifting to elevate your current security strategy.

Additionally, you will receive access to our team of executive-level security leaders who have built some of the largest security programs for Fortune 1000 companies.

Optiv can help you find the solution that fits your organization and fills your current needs for the chief information security officer role.

Key Questions:

Did you recently lose your CISO?

Do you have a security leader that is business savvy?

Can you afford a full-time CISO or do you only need a business executive part-time?

Do you have a formal method for identifying security risks associated with new business ventures?

Do you have support and budget needed to best protect your organization's crown jewels?

Do you feel you have a solid understanding of the highest priority initiatives you should be focusing on?

Are you prepared to speak to your organization's leadership and board of directors on your security priorities, objectives and accomplishments?

Whether you are a business leader in search of a business savvy security leader, or a current CISO in need of executive, board-level support, Optiv's CISO services are tailored to meet the needs of your organization. We offer full-time or part-time resources to serve as a member of your team that can be on-site or a virtual resource, or a combination of both.
